JOY SEEKS AND FINDS DEATH. Suicide of a Newspaper Man on Board an Atlantic Steamship.

FALMOUTH, England, Sept. 4.- The Wilson line steamer Buffalo, from New York Aug. 17 for Hull, which passed the Lizard last night, and signaled that she was not under control, having broken her shaft, arrived here to-day. The captain reported that a New York newspaper man namey Joy committed suicide by taking poison during the voyage. In a letter to the captain he requested that his remains be buried at sea, which was done. Joy wrote that he took the voyage especially to commit suicide. He directed that certain of his belongings be sent to Josephine

Joy, and left presents for the stewards and stewardesses. SYRACUSE, N. Y., Sept. 4.-The Herald's Cortland correspondent says the "New York newspaper man, Joy," who killed himself on the steamship Buffalo, as cabled to-day, is undoubtedly H. G. Joy, foreman who left Cortland three weeks ago, ostensibly to take a short ocean trip on a coasting vessel. A couple of days later a letter about to sail for Hull, Eng. His wife is in Cortland. They have one son. Mr. Joy was about fifty-five years old.

"The Passing of Kipling."

Having amused themselves for the past two or three months by denouncing Kipling as a failure in the novel writing line, the smart critics now only refer to the effect of their wind work as "the passing of Kipling." But the general reading pubic hasn't noticed any change, and perhaps it is wholly in the minds of the smart critics who started in to write down Rudyard because he stood by his own people in the Boer war. It reminds one of the recent announcement of the second adventists, the people who for the last half century have been predicting the end of the world. The end of the world didn't come on the dates set so far as any body cise could see, but the prophets say that it really ment immediately followed, but the Lord has been so busy judging the dead ever since, that he hasn't had time to bring the living to the bar of judgment. Legally, however, we are all dead, for the trumpet
